Autumn Price List

of

Hardy Lilliums

and

Dutch Bulbs

1934

WEYMOUTH, MASS.

A very cordial invitation is extended to all interested in hardy gardening to look over our gardens. May is a good time to see Dutch Bulbs, Lilies are in season from early June until mid-October, Herbaceous Perennials are in flower from April until December. Even in winter we usually have some bulbs or herbs showing flowers in warm locations.

The great fluctuations in currency since the United States abandoned the gold standard which Holland still retains, and the added fact that the Dutch Government which now controls the bulb industry has fixed minimum prices below which no firms are allowed to sell, in order to stabilize the industry, has made moderate advances in prices necessary particularly in the case of tulips but advances made in this list are very moderate and we invite a comparison with others handling the same high grade of bulbs. It is well to remember that the United States last year used only 10 per cent of Holland's exports of bulbs, less than one-fifth of those of Great Britain.

We have a very low overhead cost and are thus able to give attractive prices. An inspection of our large stocks of imported and domestic bulbs is cordially invited, about all are here by September 15, many much earlier.

are our leading specialty. We grow these in thousands in Weymouth in full sunshine, and our collection is without a rival in New England. From a very small beginning a few years ago a large business has been built up in these glorious hardy bulbs, and shipments are made to all parts of the United States as well as Canada and Great Britain. Virtually every variety listed may be found growing here and unlike the majority of dealers we are not dependent on bought in stock, except in the case of a few varieties. The superior advantages of home grown bulbs with their greater plumpness must be apparent to every grower of these beautiful bulbous plants.

Some varieties like candidum and testaceum are ready in August, a very large number are to be had in September, and this month and October are the best months in the year for the planting of the great majority of Lilies. The auratums, speciosums, sulphureums, and a few other varieties can be planted later and it is better to get these in during late fall rather than wait until spring. Some of our most successful plantings of Lilies have been made in late December and January, removing a crust of frost to get into the ground. Very little winter covering is necessary for Lilies, our own beds get virtually nothing at all. So long as drainage is good there need be no fear of Lilies winter killing. To extend the flowering season plantings of such varieties as speciosum, auratum, Henryi, regale, sulphureum, elegans, tigrinum and some others can be made in spring.

Our first Lilies to open in 1934 were tenuifolium and monadelphum, both during late May, the greater number of Lilies bloom during June and July but quite a number flower later and we usually have speciosums and sulphureums until mid-October which makes a fairly long season.

Plant candidum only 1½—2 inches deep, testaceum and chalcedonicum not over 3 inches. All varieties making roots only from below the bulbs should be planted shallow. Stem rooters like regale, auratum, speciosum, Henryi, sulphureum, Sargentiae, and Willmottiae require covering 8 inches and even more is better should soil be very light. European varieties like candidum, chalcedonicum, monadelphum, martagon, testaceum and Pyrenaicum like a well sweetened soil while the Asiatic varieties either prefer one which is alkaline or neutral. Regale seems to grow equally well in an acidy as a sweet soil. Some varieties like candidum, testaceum, chalcedonicum, martagon, Japonicum and rubrum are best laid on their sides at planting time, all should be bedded in sand and covered with it before being filled in.

Very retentive soils may be improved by adding peat moss, sharp sand and fine coal ashes. As a summer mulch peat moss is excellent, but do not use it for the European varieties. Where the more tender and doubtful varieties are being tried it will assist very much to lay strips of tar paper over the clumps to shed water in winter.

Lilies are effective in perennial borders, but when planted there should not go too near husky growing plants, when mulching beds with manure avoid scattering it over the Lilies. In beds or borders by themselves with a background of evergreen or not too robust deciduous shrubs Lilies do remarkably well, a groundwork of violas, or Nepeta Mussini may be used if desired. In rhododendron or azalea beds auratum, superbum, pardalinum, Canadense, Henryi and Grayi do well but do not use any of the large bulb rooting varieties. For the wild garden our native varieties like Philadelphicum, Grayi, Canadense, superbum and Carolinianum are good, so is tigrinum, the elegans and umbellatum varieties, and croceum. For rock garden plantings some of the best varieties are tenuifolium, Golden Gleam, amabile, rubellum, all of the forms of elegans, concolor, callosum and cernuum. Numerous varieties are fine for pot culture including regale, speciosum, auratum, Henryi, Japonicum, sulphureum, Batemanniae, croceum and others.

Our displays of Hardy Lilies have secured numerous awards of gold and silver medals at exhibitions during the past few years. On June 28, 1933, an exhibit of 60 varieties in Boston on the occasion of the annual convention of the American Rose Society was awarded a gold medal, this contained a number of new and rare varieties.

We wish to draw special attention to our collection of Lilium seeds which is the most complete offered in America. Many varieties will germinate within 3-4 weeks and a few will bloom the second season. If started under glass in heat certain kinds can be flowered the same year including Philippinense Formosanum. We have made shipments of Lilium seeds to France, Great Britain, Soviet Russia, Japan, British Honduras, Cuba, South Africa, New Zealand and Italy.

LIST OF HARDY LILIUMS

Each Doz.

Amabile. A charming stem rooting Lily blooming in mid-June and attaining a height of 18-24 inches. Color bright red spotted black, and with some chocolate blotches, a very good variety for the rock garden	$.30 each, $3.00 doz., $20.00 per 100
Auratum (Golden rayed Lily of Japan). Massive flowers with distinct gold bands and heavily spotted. Very fragrant, blooms in August	.25-.50 each, 3.00-5.00 doz.
Auratum Var. Pictum. Heavily spotted with rich crimson, very fine form	75-1.00 each, 9.00 doz.

Each Doz.

Auratum Var. Platiphyllum.

Carries broader foliage and the largest flowers of any of the auratums, more lightly spotted than in the type and often entirely spotless

.30-.50 each, 4.00-6.00 doz.

Auratum Var. Rubro-Vittatum.

The flowers of this form are heavily blotched and spotted dark rosy pink, very distinct.

1.00 each, 10.00 doz.

Auratum Wild Collected Bulbs.

These bulbs are smaller than the varieties which are cultivated, freedom from disease is claimed for them and we would recommend customers to try them .40 each, 4.00 doz., 30.00 per 100

Backhouse Hybrids. This grand race of Lilies was raised by the late Mrs. R. O. Backhouse in England. They are the results of crosses made between Martagon and Hansonii, two very excellent Lilies. The available stock of these in the world is still quite limited. All bulbs offered are of blooming size and these will attain a height of 5—6 feet within two years

Brocade. Very vigorous. Color orange yellow, rosy pink without, interior dotted and marbled pink and chocolate..

Golden Orb. Easily the grandest of all the Backhouse hybrids. Color yellow with a green centre, interior dotted crimson, light brown bands outside. This variety is very scarce, in fact the entire

Mrs. R. O. Backhouse. A superb and very vigorous hybrid color orange yellow spotted purple	3.00
Sceptre. Extremely vigorous, attaining a height of 6 feet. As many as 40 of the star-shaped flowers, which are orange colored with a pinky buff shading, are carried to a stem	3.00
Sutton Court. The reflexing orange yellow flowers of this variety are heavily spotted with purple, exterior of petals is shaded with pink and interior with pale yellow. Very robust	3.00
Bolanderi. Californian lily with reddish purple flowers, spotted dark purple. Something in the way of Columbianum75
Bakerianum (Lowi). This Lily which we flowered quite a number of this season is a native of Burmah and the Shan States. The flowers are pendulous, trumpet shaped, wide, and rather short. The pure white flowers have ribs of delicate green within and there are numerous reddish spots in the throat, 1—4 flowers are carried per stalk. Attains a height of 2—3 feet. Must have a warm, sheltered and well drained position outdoors and I suggest laying tar paper over the plantings to keep bulbs dry in winter. Fine for pot culture. Extra strong bulbs	2.00	22.50

Each Doz.

Batemanniae.	A superb lily blooming in late July. The stems attain a height of 3—4 feet and this season many carried 20—28 flowers each. The upright facing flowers are of a rich orange apricot color. We have a grand stock of this splendid lily.	.35 each, 4.00 doz., 30.00 per 100
Browni Odorum.	An early July flowering Lily with large trumpet shaped flowers pur- plish without and creamy white within. Distinct fra- grance	1.50 16.50
Browni Colchesteri.	Cultivated bulbs secured originally from England. A very fine form. This Lily needs a warm and very well drained location. Is excellent for pot culture75 8.00
Bulbiferum.	A native of Cen- tral Europe this lily proves to be a good grower in North America. The bright orange red flowers are dotted deep purplish black and tinged or blotched yellow in the centre. Flowers in late June or early July50 5.00
Callosum.	Flowers are orange red, unspotted, reflexed in the same way as superbum and Chalcedonicum , loves full sun- shine, blooms late30 3.00
Canadense.	A beautiful and graceful native lily succeeding well in either sunshine or shade. Fine either in the garden or for naturalizing. The drooping reflexing flowers are yellow to reddish in color, heavily spotted within.	.20 each, 2.00 doz., 12.50 per 100

Extra Big Cultivated Bulbs.

.40 each, 4.00 doz., 30.00 per 100

Canadense Flavum. The yellow form of the Canadian lily. Succeeds splendidly in full sunshine but will also thrive in fairly heavy shade.

.25 each, 2.00 doz., 15.00 per 100

Canadense Rubrum. The red form of this charming lily.

.25 each, 2.50 doz., 18.00 per 100

Candidum (Madonna Lily). The most immaculate of all hardy lilies. Likes a well sweetened soil. Requires shallow planting not over 1½-2 inches deep. Lay bulbs on their sides after rolling in sulphur, pack well in sand. As this Lily makes a rosette of leaves in late summer, early planting is desirable. Looks well associated with Delphiniums but do not allow perennials to crowd them too much. We handle both home grown and North of France bulbs.

.25-.35-.50 each, 3.00-4.00-6.00 doz.

$20.00-30.00 to 45.00 per 100

Carolinianum. Similar to superbum but is smaller and less husky, loves sunshine40	4.00
Centifolium. A magnificent new lily of great vigor and hardness, introduced by the late Reginald Farrer. The immense pure white trumpet shaped flowers are flushed with yellow at the base of the trumpet, outside the trumpets are streaked with green and light brown. Stem rooter and requires deep planting. This seems destined to become one of our dominant garden lilies when stocks increase. Good flowering bulbs	2.00	22.50
Cernuum. This Chinese lily has grass-like foliage and very wiry stems. Flowers are lilac rose in color, spotted wine color, fragrant and the plants are similar to tenuifolium in habit. Quite a scarce lily40	4.00
Chalcedonicum (Scarlet Turks Cap Lily). A native of Greece and one of the parents of testaceum. The brilliant scarlet recurving flowers are produced in July. Most of our bulbs carried 3—5 spikes each last season.

flowers facing upwards, rarely exceeds 18 inches in height. Follows tenuifolium in its season of bloom35	3.50
Coridion. Resembles concolor in its habit of growth. Color deep yellow with dark spots.	.40	4.00
Croceum. This is the true old orange lily of British gardens where it is seen growing luxuriantly on every hand, grows much taller than umbellatum and blooms later, not infrequently carrying 16—20 flowers to each stem. Color rich orange, one of our very best lilies40	4.00
Croceum var Chaixii. A very fine dwarf form, pure in color, grows only a foot in height. Bulbs of this variety are as yet very scarce. Native of the Alps Maritime	1.50
Davidi (Thayerae). This rather scarce Chinese lily is of graceful habit and while the flowers are similar to those of Willmottiae they are produced later, it has a sturdier stem however. Flowers are cinnabar red in color and the foliage is narrow and grass-like.
Extra strong flowering bulbs	1.00	10.00
Second sized bulbs of flowering size50	5.00
Davuricum. A handsome Siberian lily flowering early, usually umbellatum is sold for it, the flowers more nearly resemble our native Philadelphicum than any other variety being orange red in color, spotted black, upright and rather cup shaped30	3.00

Dalhansoni. A splendid hybrid between martagon Dalmaticum and Hansonii with great vigor and much of the coloring of the darkest of the martagons. Bulbs scarce	2.50
Duchartrei Farreri. One of the late Reginald Farrer's introductions and referred to by him as resembling a "white marbled martagon." This does fairly well in New England and is a very charming Lily	2.00
Elegans (Thunbergianum). A dwarf growing and early flowering type of lilies coming in several colors. Good both for the border and the rock garden as well as the wild garden. There are some very fine forms of this easily grown lily. Fine mixture.
	.20 each, 2.00 doz., 15.00 per 100
Elegans Alice Wilson. An excellent yellow form, dwarf and carrying extra large flowers, also forces very well50	5.00
Elegans Aureum Nigro-Maculatum. Apricot yellow with black spots25	2.50
Elegans Atro-Sanguineum. Dark red, crimson in centre..	.25	2.50
Elegans Golden Gleam. A very pretty yellow form, dwarf and very early40	4.00
Elegans Leonard Joerg. A good deep apricot variety with black spots .30 each, 3.00 doz.,	22.50	per 100
Elegans Peter Barr. Fine golden yellow variety, lightly spotted40	4.00

	Each	Doz.
Elegans Prince of Orange. A very dwarf yellow form of Elegans40	4.00
Elegans Red Star. Splendid red, suffused with orange40	4.00
Grayi. Named in honor of Prof. Asa Gray, the noted botanist. Coming to us from the mountains of Virginia and North Carolina, this lovely and graceful lily takes kindly to garden culture in New England. The pretty red tubular shaped flowers are yellow, spotted brown and are very freely produced. Prefers some shade like many other lilies, but thrives well in full sunshine	35 each, 3.50 doz., 25.00 per 100
Giganteum Himalaicum. Not to be confounded with the form of longiflorum going under the name of giganteum, this is the tallest growing and most noble of all lilies. Not a plant for the open garden, the ideal place for it is in an open glade in a piece of woodland where it can be sheltered from strong winds. The large bulbs should be planted shallow in soft mucky ground in which coarse sand has been freely mixed. Spring planting is best. The large tubular shaped flowers are semi-pendant and pure white in color with a purplish tint near the base and purple midribs, the flowers are very fragrant. Under good culture this lily attains a height of 10—12 feet and is very noble. We bloomed quite a number of this superb lily in 1934.

Hansonii. Hanson's lily is easily one of the best 6 varieties in cultivation. Leaves are carried in whorls and persist until quite late. The yellow flowers are slightly reflexed, yellow in color with brown spots and fragrant. Succeeds well in both sunshine and shade. A late June bloomer.

Extra large bulbs75 7.50

Strong flowering50 5.00

Henryi. Sometimes called the "yellow speciosum." The orange yellow reflexing flowers are produced in August and early September. This lily produces very big bulbs, often attains a height of 7—8 feet or more, and is not only very floriferous but absolutely dependable, carries very rich green foliage. Must be planted 8—10 inches deep for best results 25, .50, .75 each

Horsfordi. This charming hybrid was raised by the late F. H. Horsford at Charlotte, Vermont, and is still very scarce. It is the result of crossing L. Maximowiczii and L. Batemanniae, the flowers which are quite large and reflexed are of a lovely apricot yellow color and open late in July 1.50 16.50

Humboldtii Magnicum. One of the best of the Californian lilies. Has done very well with me in the open but thrives better in an open woodland glade where it will be protected from cutting winds. Flowers in form resemble superbum but are more heavily spotted with purple. Strong cultivated bulbs, far superior to those collected....	.60	7.00
Japonicum (Krameri). The most lovely of pink Japanese lilies. This has done amazingly well outdoors with me even when planted as late as Christmas week, many stalks have carried 6—7 flowers each in the open field and unprotected. The stories told in many catalogues that this lily is delicate and must be pot grown altogether is pure nonsense. Give it well drained soil, use plenty of sand around the bulbs laying them on their sides. Flowers mainly in July but will persist until well into August. Makes a fine variety also for pot culture.	.50	5.00

Kelloggi. A very dainty and pretty Lily from North Western California, the stems attain a height of 2—4 feet, flowers are pink spotted purple and are fragrant, likes a well drained position in a rockery, or on the banks of a sloping piece of woodland50	5.00
Longiflorum Formosum. This form of the "Easter Lily" is splendid for forcing and easily forces into flower earlier than giganteum, it usually also grows much taller. It is not generally known that it is also excellent for outdoor culture, flowering in the vicinity of Boston about July 10. Plant 8—10 inches deep and you need have no fear of winter killing.

Extra large bulbs50 5.00

Longiflorum Giganteum. This the popular lily for Easter forcing, is also a grand variety outdoors in New England. Plant in November 8—10 inches deep. Flowers produced in the open are very much larger than under glass and quantities of large bulblets will be found on the stems at digging time, some of these will flower the next season. Proves perfectly hardy.

Extra large bulbs50 5.00

Longiflorum Harrisii. The earliest flowering of the longiflorum varieties under glass this variety has with us flowered latest outdoors, nor has it grown so tall as either giganteum or formosum. Bulbs of this lily are ready early in August. We find this Lily perfectly hardy but outdoor planting should be delayed until late October.

Extra fine 9—11 inch bulbs.. .50 6.00

Longiflorum Erabu. A fine variety from the island of Erabu, now much grown for Easter flowering succeeding in a cooler temperature than giganteum, proves perfectly hardy in New England, blooming in July

Longiflorum Vaughani. A splendid form of giganteum from southern Japan, equally good for greenhouse forcing or outdoor culture50	5.00
Marhan. A fine hybrid lily raised between Martagon and Hansonii, has a fine constitution. Flowers are fairly intermediate in character. Good flowering bulbs	1.50	17.50
Marhan, var. Ellen Willmott. A lovely hybrid between Martagon album and Hansonii. Color clear orange with reddish brown spots and streaks extremely vigorous	2.00
Martagon. The old purple martagon lily often attains a height of 6 feet, carrying up to 30 flowers per stalk. Flowers in mid-June near Boston, cover 4 inches.
	.25 each, 2.50 doz.,	18.00 per 100
Martagon Album. The white martagon lily produces its waxy white recurving flowers a few days later than the purple variety, it is one of the most lovely and graceful lilies in cultivation, has a strong constitution.

Fine bulbs50	5.00
Martagon Dalmaticum. One of the finest forms of martagon, very robust flowers are occasionally wine red in color but usually deep glossy purple appearing black in the distance. Choice and scarce	2.50
Martagon Cattanae. Rich glossy blackish crimson flowers, a remarkable form, very scarce	3.00

	Each	Doz.
Maritimum. This Californian Lily is rather closely allied to the better known Canadense. The reflexed orange yellow flowers are tipped red and spotted light purple60	6.50
Maximowiczii. A late August flowering lily, resembles tigrinum a little in habit and flowers but is a later bloomer and rather less vigorous. The recurving red flowers are spotted purplish brown. Cover bulbs 6—8 inches40	4.00
Maxwill. A splendid hybrid between L. Maximowiczii and Willmottiae, raised in Canada. Has a rather sturdier stem than Willmottiae and is a little lighter in color. A splendid garden lily	2.00
Medeoloides. A good rock garden lily of martagon habit, flowers are scarlet, shaded a pricot and occasionally spotted black50	5.00
Monadelphum Szovitzianum (Colchicum). A very beautiful lily from the Caucasus. Likes very well drained ground and if a sheet of tar paper is spread over the bed in winter to exclude water they will do all the better. The rich yellow fragrant flowers appear in early June arranged like pendulous bells around a sturdily graceful stalk.
Extra fine bulbs...50, .75 each, 5.00, 7.00 doz.
Occidentale. Believed to be a hybrid between maritimum and pardalinum. Flowers are deep blood red with a few maroon spots in centre, loves moisture. A very rare variety.	.75

	Each	Doz.
Ochraceum. Often confounded with Nepalense from which it is quite distinct. Shows much variation in both flower and leaf. Color is yellow but not of one fixed shade, usually the tube is heavily stained with wine purple, a fine lily for pot culture and may prove amenable to open air conditions when better understood. Strong bulbs	2.00
Pardalinum. A very good Pacific Coast lily flowering in July. Of vigorous habit and easily attaining a height of 5—6 feet. The recurving flowers are bright orange in color spotted with deep crimson ..	.25	2.50
Pardalinum Giganteum. A magnificent form with larger and much more brilliant flowers than the type, possesses great vigor, our plants this year attained a height of 8 feet. We offered this variety for the first time in the east in 1930 and it has made good everywhere.....50, 1.00 each, 6.00, 10.00 doz.
Parryi. A lovely Pacific Coast lily growing 4 feet in height. Lemon yellow in color with light chocolate brown spots, has a delightful fragrance. Likes plenty of leaf mold or peat moss and a moist location. Cultivated bulbs75	8.00
Parvum. A very pretty and graceful Lily from the Sierra Nevada Mountains which succeeds very well in the eastern states. Flowers are recurving, orange yellow in color and 1½ to 2 inches across50	5.00

Parvum Luteum. A pure yellow form which is very highly prized. One of the most charming of our Pacific Coast Lilies	.60	3.00
Philadelphicum. A fine lily native to our eastern states. The cup shaped flowers are of large size and carried 1—6 to a stalk. The orange colored flowers shade to scarlet at the tips and are rather heavily spotted, prefers shade and some low herbage to cover the ground, .20 each, 2.00 doz., $12.50 per 100 Extra large bulbs	40	4.00
Philippinense Formosanum. Early Type. This variety has passed through the past severe winter unprotected without any loss, it commenced flowering July 10 and persists until mid-August, an excellent variety with long narrow trumpets which are pure white within and colored brownish externally.	40	4.00
Strong bulbs	40	4.00
Philippinense Formosanum. Late Type. Growing taller than the early type this does not start flowering until September and persists until cut by frost, on the Pacific Coast it flowered last year as late as Christmas, in addition to its value outdoors it forces well and flowers come pure white with splendid wiry stems. Comes easily from seed and will flower the same season if started early	40	4.00
Pomponium. A native of Italy this lovely lily resembles Chalcedonicum but blooms much earlier. Seems to prefer a heavy soil with some grit added and likes lime50	5.00

Pride of Charlotte. A truly superb new Lilium raised in the cold region of Northern Vermont. One which has stood the test of severe winters and hot summers and has come through unscathed when many regales, Sargentiae and other varieties suffered severely. It flowers in late July and is a very sturdy grower with trumpets rather more constricted than those of regale but much longer. The inner portion of the trumpet is white with a soft sulphury suffusion, the outer part resembles Sargentiae of which this is a very much glorified form. It produces large dark colored bulbils abundantly, these starting to bloom the second year. It also seeds quite freely and seedlings two years old flowered this season and absolutely true to type. A number of regale and Sargentiae hybrids have been raised in the past but this variety seems to outclass all of them in vigor, hardiness, ease of culture and all other good qualities. Bulbs are offered now for the first time as follows.	10—12 inch circ.	$5.00 each
	8—10 inch circ.	4.00 each
	5—7 inch. circ.	2.00 each

Seeds ready in late October $1.00 pkt.

Stock is rather limited and early applications will reserve bulbs.

Princeps. A hybrid between regale and Sargentiae and in our estimation better than either parent. This superb lily was raised at the Dominion Experimental Farms, Ottawa, Ontario. It greatly extends the regale season as it flowers nearly a month later, the immense trumpets are larger and purer than those of regale, the exterior of the trumpet having hardly any trace of the brownish purple coloring seen in regale, being green and white. In 1932 we had this Lily in splendid bloom as late as August 20. It has an even sturdier stem than regale and carries as many as 15—20 flowers per stalk once established. We consider this one of the great Lilies of the future which every one will want to grow. This season we have a grand stock of bulbs which we offer at attractive prices.

Rubescens. This is the Redwood or Chemise Lily. Tall slender stalks and very fragrant tubular flowers, these are white with purple dots when opening changing to deeper purple, and varying shades may be seen on the same plants. Give very good drainage50	5.00

Rubellum. A pretty very early flowering dwarf lily, fine for the rock garden in well drained pockets, the flowers are rather light pink in color and tube shaped, is also fine for pot culture.
	.40 each, 4.00 doz.,	30.00 per 100
Sargentiae. Mrs. Sargent's lily flowers about three weeks later than regale, the large tubular flowers are pure white within, outside they are reddish brown. Plant at least 8 inches deep, be sure soil is well drained and this lily will thrive with you although not to the same degree as regale	.75	8.00
Shelburne Hybrid. A very fine and vigorous hybrid between Sargentiae and regale raised in Shelburne, Vermont, resembles a much glorified Sargentiae but is a hardier and huskier grower than that variety	2.00	22.50
Speciosum Album. Large reflexing pure white flowers which are in season outdoors from mid-August until October. Also good for pot culture.

Additional to the foregoing list we have small stocks of a number of other varieties, names and prices of which will be gladly forwarded on application.

LILIUM SEEDS

The great majority of Lilies come rather readily from seeds, some will germinate within three weeks, others require three months, a few as much as a year. A great many amateur garden lovers are very successfully raising Lilies from seeds and appended will be found a list of varieties we can furnish at 50 cents per liberal pkt. Smaller pkts. of many kinds for 25 cents. A collection of 12 varieties of easy culture for $2.50, 25 varieties for $5.00. April and May are the months when amateurs will have the best success in raising Lilies from seeds. We will be glad to give cultural directions to any buying seeds who desire it. By starting certain varieties in heat during the winter we have succeeded in flowering some of them in from 9-15 months. Raising Lilies from seeds is comparatively simple and numerous amateurs are now increasing their stock in this way.

New Practical Work on Lilies

“Lilies and Their Culture in North America”

By WILLIAM N. CRAIG

Covers the Culture of Lilies both in the Garden and Greenhouse, treats over 100 varieties. Profusely illustrated with full page plates. Covers such points as Lilies in History, Classification of Lilies, Geographical Distribution, Suitable Soils, Manures and Fertilizers, Lime and its Effects, the Value of Mulches, Depths to Plant Lilies, Preparation of Soils, Lilies for Special Permanent Purposes, Lilies for Cutting, Insect Pests and Diseases, Propagation, Lilies for Pot Culture and Forcing, Notes on Varieties.

This, the first work on Lily culture in America, has been warmly praised by the Horticultural press of both America and Europe. 144 pages.

Price $3.00 postpaid from the Author in Weymouth, Mass., or The Florist Publishing Co., South Dearborn Street, Chicago, Ill.

DUTCH AND OTHER HARDY BULBOUS PLANTS

We carry only the highest quality of Dutch and American grown hardy bulbs. Narcissi which are all of American culture are substantially lower in price this season and the quality is splendid, many of these we grow ourselves.

We would appreciate an inspection of our large stocks of these bulbs, most of which will have arrived by September 15. Quite a number of new varieties will be found in this price list.

Where orders are required by mail, customers should include sufficient in their remittance to cover cost of Parcels Post. Large orders are shipped per Express but can be divided into several packages if necessary and go per mail.

NARCISSI

There has been a tremendous increase in the interest in Daffodils within the past year and we have included in the present list numerous additions of the less common, new and unusual varieties raised by European hybridists. These hybrids are tremendous advances over the old standard varieties and are the results of years of painstaking work by such noted hybridists as Mrs. Backhouse, Williams, de Graaff, Van Waveren, Barr, Brodie and others.

We would draw attention to the fine selection of varieties we offer for the Rock Garden, a selection of which will give flowers over a quite long season.

We handle only the finest quality of double nosed bulbs and invite an inspection of our stock. Also a visit to our gardens in Daffodil time.

Iris Reticulata var, Cantab. Of a lovely Cambridge blue color, flowers 10 days earlier than reticulata, carries 2—4 flowers per bulb, in bloom first week in April	50 each, $6.00 doz.

CAMASSIAS

Camassias are interesting and very attractive hardy bulbous plants from the Western Northern American states. They are best planted in the fall 4—6 inches deep in any good soil, but avoid fresh manures. They enjoy plenty of moisture during the growing season, in fact in their native habitats they are often standing in water when in flower, through the summer they succeed best if allowed to dry out very thoroughly. They add great interest to the spring bulbous garden.

Leichtlini. Robust variety, much the best of the family, often 3 feet high, flower scapes are usually clear blue but occasionally white $1.50 $12.00

CONVALLARIA (LILY OF THE VALLEY)

Polygonatum (Solomon's Seal).

Splendid for shady locations, strong field grown $2.00 $15.00

EREMURUS (FOXTAIL LILY)

These strikingly beautiful hardy desert plants come to us from the mountains of Western and Central Asia. My first planting of them in Massachusetts was as long ago as 1900. Their large octopus-like roots should be planted in the fall preferably in well drained soil which should contain plenty of either peat moss or leaf mold with a good addition of sharp sand. Cover the roots about 5 inches and the central crown rather less. Growth starts very early in the spring and to prevent injury to the shoots draw earth about them and tuck some sort of evergreen branches around them to protect them. Spikes will rise to a height of 10 feet or more on well established plants and their sturdy stalks from which pushes 2—3 feet of flowers in late May are thrilling to all flower lovers. Lay a piece of tar paper over crowns in winter to shed water although they usually do not require this care. Protect with salt hay or leaves over winter.

In buying bulbs it is well to remember that there are several grades. In the case of Dutch bulbs of all kinds, and the Narcissi and Iris now mainly grown on the Pacific Coast, the larger sized bulbs are always the best. We buy only the finest grades to be had. Cheaper offerings made are invariably of small, inferior sizes. That it pays to buy the best there can be no question. In the case of Liliums in which we specialize there are great variations in sizes. For instance, last year we had bulbs of regale over 20 inches in circumference which gave 30-40 flowers per bulb, but we offer small bulbs only 3-4 inches in circumference for those desiring to grow them. Prices are regulated by the sizes in the case of all Liliums. We urge more amateurs to grow lilies from seed.

We sell bulbs of all kinds in 6s at dozen rate and in 25s and 50s at 100 rate.
